Cover

The cover design symbolises the far-reaching impact AUT has on students, their whānau, society and the world. The ripples represent this impact, while beneath them lies a modern Poutama pattern, symbolising the support and guidance AUT provides to students on their educational journey. A traditional Poutama design on the back connects to the front, reflecting the foundational role of Te Ao Māori in supporting and enhancing all aspects of AUT.

Your new home on campus

The gateway to AUT, Ngā Wai o Horotiu marae is located on the City Campus, and is a whānau, cultural and spiritual centre. It embraces the history of Māori and welcomes the diverse cultures at AUT. The marae is one of the ways AUT acknowledges the importance of the principles of Te Tiriti o Waitangi and expresses our deeply held belief that AUT is a centre of learning for all peoples, but also a place where Māori have a special and distinct role. Our marae's wharehau was named Te Pūrengi by the local iwi Ngāti Whātua, representing the ropes which hold the mast of a waka in place. Our wharekai is called te Kaipara after the Kaipara Harbour, referencing Ngāti Whātua traversing the Kaipara from the North. You can find Ngā Wai o Horotiu on the corner of Wellesley and St Paul Street in Auckland.

The Bachelor of Arts is highly flexible and you can build your degree in a way that reflects your interests.

To graduate with a Bachelor of Arts you need to complete:

Core courses (120 points)

These are courses all students in this degree need to take. These courses align with different United Nations Sustainable Development Goals, and you can choose from different courses for each of the core course themes. One of the core courses is the workplace experience you complete in your third year.

Your chosen major (120 points)

Your major is the subject area you want to specialise in. This makes up one third of your degree, and usually consists of eight courses related to your chosen subject. You can view the list of majors in this degree on page 8.

Flexible component (120 points)

You can choose one of the following options:

- Two minors (60 points each); or

Your second major, minor(s) and elective courses can be from the Bachelor of Arts or different AUT degrees.

“At first, I was terrified of making the big move from Taranaki to Auckland, but the AUT Māori whānau room quickly became a home away from home. It was a space where everyone was in the same boat; moving to the big city from small rural towns or wherever we came from, and we all formed a strong bond. In the first semester of my first year at AUT, one of the TVNZ staff came into my class and asked if any of us were interested in a career in journalism. I saw it as an opportunity to put my foot in the door. It started as a small casual role for 1News, but it led to more opportunities, including work with Te Karere Māori News.”

"I did this degree because I wanted to learn new skills to be able to help my people, learn more about my culture and be able to use my biggest strengths as Māori in my personal and professional life. The atmosphere at AUT felt welcoming and colourful, and from the first day the staff and students were so supportive. Coming from a small town and a small school in the Hawke's Bay, and then moving and studying in the Auckland CBD was so interesting and learning to navigate this new space was a journey. I made some great friends while I was at AUT. We all came from similar backgrounds and were all in this to do better for ourselves and our whānau."

"For those who care about creativity in Aotearoa, this degree provides an excellent opportunity to see a little more of the iceberg that is the Māori media industry in New Zealand. I decided to come to AUT because the scope of classes provided in this course didn't seem to be offered anywhere else. I also like that the Māori media degree centres Māori kaiako to do what they do best. The lecturers in many of my classes have made studying worthwhile and there's plenty of opportunities to get involved to varying degrees. Once I graduate, I'm looking to get involved in creative, multimedia storytelling in as many capacities as possible."

"I started my studies with a Diploma in Arts because I was on the fence about studying at university level. I found my last year of high school – during the COVID-19 pandemic – really difficult. I was unsure if I wanted to continue studying further, but was really passionate about my area of study and wanted to see if I would enjoy studying at AUT and at university in general, which I certainly have. I really enjoyed the fact that the diploma enables you to study wider options in your area of interest. The diploma was my first step into a university degree but offered the support I was seeking fresh out of high school."
